

Welcome

Welcome to the inaugural issue of Stahl's Bakery Blog! Hopefully we'll be updating fairly regularly. Another thing I'm looking forward to with this medium is inviting friends of the bakery, investors, and employees to contribute their opinions and points of view; after all, don't we all have something to say?

For now, though, I just wanted to send out a giant public "Thank You!!" to Brandon Tidd & Shane Kardos. Brandon was our first webmaster, and many of his contributions have been dovetailed into this new website. Brandon has since graduated KSU and is now winning awards in his radio career over at Akron's WKDD. Shane Kardos, co-owner of Logos Bookstore in Kent (and our current webmaster), has set up this new web incarnation, and is graciously sharing space on the Logos server. Don't forget to sign up for the Stahl's 411, our e-newsletter. Bakery news, baking trivia, and occasional coupons right in your inbox. In the meantime, if you want to know what's going on in the bakery, but the blog hasn't been updated.....stop on by. The food's much better in person than online! Thanks for visiting! Cary, Baker
